

- Find out about our 2017 achievements
- Read about our new Education in Policy and Practice Think Tank
- We're Going Places - Exciting Expansion Projects

Brand new programmes, Professors and locations

With 2017 coming to a close, it's time to celebrate our major achievements. We have started an education policy research think tank and have expanded to three schools across Uganda, Thailand and Sierra Leone. We will be recruiting more lecturers for the 2018 summer schools and are offering a new variety of courses.

We are very proud of our 2017 team of lecturers who made an enormous contribution to our programmes and a huge impact in the universities where they taught!

Our dream team this year included (but was not limited to):

- Philippa, a researcher from the London School of Economics and a member of the GB Women's Fencing team who taught a course on Civil Society at African Rural University in Uganda.
- Yanoh came all the way from the New York Institute of Technology to teach Community Health at Fourah Bay College in Sierra Leone.

- Sabrina, a researcher from the University of Leeds went to Bangkok to pioneer a Model United Nations simulation at Srinakharinwirot University

Many have gone on to work in new places:

- Matt, who taught Design Thinking in Uganda has been applying his skills at CERN, the European Organization for Nuclear Research in Geneva
- Joanne, who taught international politics and geography in Sierra Leone is now busy lecturing at Durham University.

"Give feedback to your students as soon as possible: the sooner you come back with the result of a test or an essay, the easier it is for the student to adapt the quality and effectiveness of their study strategies and the time they invested in them."

According to our behavioural economist Gabriel Inchausti, who is writing a paper for our think tank on how to use 'nudges' to improve learning and retention.

 See where we are

 Join our network

Think Tank News

How are universities in Africa approaching entrepreneurship? What are the disparities in investment in higher education within and between countries? How do we build confidence among university students?

With our team of researchers, we are creating empirical data to answer some of education's hardest questions. The original research is informed by our experiences and will directly impact our teaching methods.

We are excited to announce that we launched our own education in policy and practice Think Tank in October 2017 in partnership with the Gulf Futures Centre. We held our opening ceremony at Richmond University. We already have seven part-time researchers contributing to our publications agenda and will be hosting our first Education and Development workshop in September 2018.

Uganda 2018: Professors and Courses

We are delighted to announce that we will be joined by three wonderful lecturers for our 2018 Summer School at African Rural University in Uganda.

Dr Janet Bultitude from the University of Bath will be leading courses on Research Methods.

Dr Andrew Bell joining us from the University of Oxford and the University of Cambridge, will be teaching Decision-Making and Negotiations.

Sana Al-Buainain, CEO of The Journey, Coaching and Consulting, will be working with students on entrepreneurship skills with an emphasis on empowering women.

The lecturers will also be working with the academic and local community to teach workshops to develop new skills and answer pressing questions. We are ready to go to Uganda and excited about our growing team and projects!

India, here we come!

Karamat We have been invited by Husain Muslim Girls' Post Graduate College an all-women's university in Lucknow, India to pioneer our summer schools in India. We will be sending our August team to teach for two weeks in

Prowibo in the Press

Princess Tessa de Nassau Co-Founder spoke at the Women's Economic Forum in Dubai this past October. Tessa discussed gender, education and the guiding principles behind Professors Without Borders. Listen to her speech here

Join Us!

There are many ways you can support our work. If you would like to contribute to our research or are a professor and would like to express your interest in becoming a lecturer, please reach out to us. If you are a volunteer interested in getting involved in any number of our programmes, detail what you would like to bring to our team.

Upcoming events

We will be hosting an intimate donor event in early 2018 in London. If you are interested in contributing to our rapidly expanding programmes, please reach out to us.

In September 2018 we will host a skills workshop with the Gulf Futures Center in London. The workshop will provide an opportunity for an engaged discussion between interested parties in the industry, higher education and politics. The dialogue will take a solution-oriented approach to better understand how we can deliver a relevant and quality educational program to university students of the 21st century. Outputs will include a written report available to the public through our website, and an edited volume that puts together the different aspects of the complex and fascinating challenge of shaping higher education for the future.

Find out more here.

Career Development

We strive to ensure that our students and partners are equipped with up-to-date career-building news. Read and share our latest post about education, teaching and entrepreneurship on our Facebook page. Find out about our tips and resources for learning and teaching on our Career Development page.

Transparency and accountability are important to us.

In case you missed it, read our latest report.

P
PROFESSORS
WITHOUT BORDERS

 Join our network

 Learn more

 See where we are

Copyright © 2017 Professors Without Borders, All rights reserved.

Contact us here:
<http://www.prowibo.com/contact-us/>

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.